Yeah, I'm sorry, I have to go to sleep. I've attached my notes.
 Best,
 Timothy

Also, working people can't really give testimony at midnight and go to work. You should maybe consider breaking it up over a couple of days.
 I'd be happy to be consultant

We're still having trouble hearing him. I suggest a new mic set up as the testimonies spill into the week.

Best,

Timothy

Good Afternoon Mr. Simmons,

Thank you for your email. We are aware of the issues with Mr. Gissendanner's mic. The volumes of his mic have been adjusted and he is trying to remember to hold his earbuds up to his mouth when he speaks.

We apologize for the issue.

Sincerely,

PSC Communications

To whom it may concern,

Mr. Gissendanner's microphone is consistently hard to hear. Can someone please pass that along.

Best,

Timothy Simmons

Hello,
My name is Timothy Simmons. I live at [redacted]
Hickory St. I had rooftop solar panels installed in 2016. They cost me $29,000 for 28 panels. 55% of that cost I recovered through state and federal tax credits. I financed the remaining $13,000 dollars with First Citizens Bank. That is to say, these panels were not cheap and I am still paying for them and will be for the next 2 or 3 years. If Dominion Energy forces prices for solar generators to go up or decreases the generators opportunities for energy cost savings, that will be the end of the solar industry in SC. From a fiscal standpoint, no rational person will be able to justify having them installed. That means no more solar jobs in South Carolina. That means ²³⁰⁰~~4000~~ people out of solar jobs. Please vote against Dominion's attempt to ^{effectively} ~~kill~~ end solar in South Carolina!....thank you
